Local builder wins pair of awards

Posch Builders LLC of Stillwater was recently named 2012 “Contractor of the Year” by the state chapter of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) and earned the 2012 “Super Service Award” from the online consumer rating and review service Angie’s List, company officials announced.

Posch Builders received its fifth COTY from NARI for outstanding achievement in residential interior remodeling under $150,000 for a project that turned a basement into a family area and home office.

Angie’s List “Super Service Award” honors excellence among service and health providers who maintain a superior service record. Less than five percent of the thousands of businesses registered on Angie’s List earn the award annually.

“We are humbled by these awards, as they represent the very essence of our values: excellence in both quality of work and customer service,” said Brian Posch, owner of Posch Builders. “As we celebrate our fifth anniversary this month, it’s a great validation that the work we do is making and positive impact on both the industry and our clients.”
